2. WASHINGTON (UPI) - Congress faces a House vote on the income tax surcharge and Senate resolutions on foreign policy this week.

The House, probably Wednesday, is expected to take up the tax matter and probably approve it. It would extend the 10 per cent surcharge for another year. But liberals are opposing the tax measure because of a lack of tax reforms. Over the weekend, the AFL-CIO urged House members to vote against the $9 billion package. The labor federation said the program "fails to close a single tax loophole."

The Senate takes up a resolution that would reassert the Senate's right to be consulted on foreign policy and on Presidential decisions to send combat troops to foreign countries.

Backers said this resolution could head off another Gulf of Tonkin resolution. Former President Johnson followed up that Senate resolution by increasing US involvement in Viet Nam.

MCNAMARA HITSMILITARY SPENDING

BOSTON (UPI) - Former Defense Secretary McNamara said today Congress used to buy military hardware they way some women buy perfume - "if it costs more, it must be better."

McNamara made that remark in an interview published by a Boston newspaper.

McNamara, now the president of the World Bank, said that in his day at the Pentagon he had to fight a Congress that wanted to spend too much for useless military projects. He praised the new critical mood of Congress and said no amount of hardware can buy national security and that the strength of nations rests on moral foundations.

COMMITTEE AIRSABM ISSUE IN SECRET

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate Foreign Relations Chairman William Fulbright held a confrontation behind closed doors today between Defense Secretary Laird and CIA Director Richard Helms.

At issue is the battle for some crucial votes of senators uncommitted on the ABM issue.

Laird has argued that the ABM is necessary because Russia is developing the capacity to destroy American nuclear power in a single first strike.

Fulbright said the CIA's intelligence estimates contradict Laird completely and wanted to see what both men have to say together in the same room at the same time.

Leadership of the nation's highest tribunal was passed to Burger by the man he succeeds, Earl Warren, who was praised at the oath-taking ceremony in a precedent-setting address by President Nixon.

Just before the 61-year-old Burger was sworn in, Mr. Nixon spoke for 10 minutes. He said Warren's example, "the example of dignity, the example of integrity, the example of fairness has helped to keep America on the path of continuity and change which is so essential to our progress."

With the end of the 16-year so-called "Warren Court," the tribunal was adjourned until next October when the Burger Court begins.

SDS SPLITS AT END OF CONVENTION

CHICAGO (UPI) - In the course of its convention which ended yesterday in a west side church the SDS fell into two halves.

The old-line SDS leaders walked out on a pro-Peking faction which remained at the old Chicago Coliseum, on the question of whether the black liberation movement is or is not "counter revolutionary nationalism."

But the old SDS people said they are the true carriers of the radical faith by virtue of the fact that they are still holding on the SDS treasury and mailing lists.

Yesterday they elected Mark Rudd, leader of the Columbia University revolt of last year, their national secretary. And they called for massive street demonstrations in Chicago this September when eight radical leaders arrested during the Democratic convention violence last August will be put on trial.

SPORTS NEWS (UPI)B A S E B A L L

It matters not what uniform they wear, they all fall before the brash New York Mets.

The Mets, once patsies of the National League who spent eight frustrating years trying to rid themselves of the term "the clowns of baseball," continued to ride their greatest winning streak in history. Their winning streak moved them within 4-½ games of first-place Chicago in the Eastern division.

The Mets collected 13 singles in the opener as they beat Steve Carlton while Jerry Koosman pitched his second straight shutout and ran his scoreless inning streak to 23 in the nightcap as the Mets sent the defending league champs down to their third loss of the four-game series.

In other National League games, Chicago split with Montreal, winning the first game 7-6 before losing the second 5-4, Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 6-0 in the opener before dropping the nightcap 3-2, Los Angeles shutout Cincinnati 5-0 while the second game was postponed by rain, San Francisco won the first game from Atlanta 5-1 before the Braves rebounded in the nightcap 7-5, and Houston shutout the San Diego Padres 2-0.

In the American League, Cleveland edged Baltimore 3-2 before losing the second game 6-0, Washington swept Detroit 9-4 and 9-5, Chicago shutout California 1-0, Seattle downed Kansas City 5-1, New York defeated Boston 5-3 in 10 innings and Minnesota nipped Oakland 4-3 in the 13-inning nightcap after the A's had taken the opener 7-3.

FRAZIER IS FAVORITE TO BEAT QUARRY TONIGHT

Joe Frazier is a solid favorite to successfully defend his share of the world heavyweight title tonight at New York. But odds are something that Challenger Jerry Quarry has been bucking all his life.

The match promises to be the biggest boxing attraction to hit Madison Square Garden since the sellout fight between Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Quarry was the favorite when he fought Jimmy Ellis for the World Boxing Association title and lost. But against Thad Spencer and Floyd Patterson he was an underdog and won. He also was on the short end of the odds when he did a demolition job against Buster Mathis at the Garden in March.

Frazier, recognized as champ in New York and several other states, has been described as a second Henry Armstrong because of his non-stop flailing style. Quarry is noted as a counter-puncher.

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic heavyweight champion, has won all of his 23 professional fights and accounted for 20 knockouts. Quarry's record shows 31 victories, two defeats and four draws. Despite his reputation as a puncher he has only 18 kayoes to his credit.

If Quarry wins, he will become the first heavyweight champion from California since Max Baer and the first Irishman to win the crown since Jimmy Braddock.

Since winning the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds last year, Frazier has defended his share of the title against Manuel Ramos, Oscar Bonavena and Dave Zyglewicz of Houston. He appears to be taking the challenge of Quarry more seriously than his other opponents. He admits that Quarry is constantly in front of his mind.
